

CHILDREN'S BOOKS FROM MEXICO 2022

The publishing houses of Mexico are part of a dynamic, creative and present industry around the world, particularly, those who publish books for children and young people. Each publisher has proposals that add to the purpose, to promote literature and therefore, culture. This growth has led to international recognition: several publishing houses have been awarded as Best Children's Publishers of the Year (BOP) for Central/South America region: Petra Ediciones (2014), Ediciones Tecolote (2018) and Alboroto Ediciones (2020).

This catalogue is the product of hard work made by the Children's Books Committee, a part of the Mexican National Chamber of Books (CANIEM). It is a sample of what has occurred in recent years, despite of the setbacks that as humanity we have experienced. Creativity and imagination dedicated to children and young people is a motto that seems to be inscribed in the mind and heart of every publishing house that belongs to this committee.

ALBOROTO EDICIONES

Alboroto Ediciones is a Mexican publishing house. We were born in 2018 as a team work proposal. Thus, all our creatives are a fundamental part of our enterprise. Our books are meant to disrupt through images in order to provoke a reaction. We talk about several topics yet they are focused on a social context: dictatorship, exile, disappearances, social integration, disabilities, among others. As difficult as a topic may seem, we talk about it from an aesthetic and poetic point of view.

We are convinced that the action of reading needs to combine reading with the image contemplation, this is why each book we develop has an album format.

Children

Niños

Author: María José Ferrada

Illustrator: Ana Palmero

Niños by María José Ferrada is dedicated to 34 Chilean children who disappeared or were killed during Pinochet's regime. Literature is surely the place where collective memory lives and is able to make those who were lost immortal. In Niños, Ferrada's sensitive and moving writing brings those Chilean children to life through a tender, respectful and thought-provoking poem for each child.

María José Ferrada

- ◆ She graduated from Chile's Universidad Diego Portales in Social Communication.

- ◆ She studied Linguistics applied to Translation at Universidad de Santiago de Chile and she studied a Master in Asian Studies at Universidad de Barcelona.

Mom's purse

El bolso de mamá

Author: María José Ferrada

Illustrator: Ana Palmero

Keys, handkerchiefs, coins, three flowers from last spring, a bird. Boys and girls are expert observers and that is why they know that a mother's purse fits everything. A book in Braille that reminds its readers that when observations are mixed with imagination, the most everyday objects are capable of coming to poetic life.

María José Ferrada

Swimmers

Nadadores

Author: María José Ferrada

Illustrator: Mariana Alcántara

32 pp.
16.5 x 21.5 cm
Binding: Hard cover

There might be many swimmers for sure who, after training so much during the day ("50 meters of Front Crawl, 50 meters of Back and 50 meters of Butterfly") at night they dream about being fish. But during those same nights, when the moon illuminates the oceans, will fish dream about being swimmers?

The authors of this book use humor and poetry to show us that a page can be a deep sea or an Olympic-size swimming pool, depending on the eyes with which it is looked at.

María José Ferrada

ARTES DE MÉXICO

Since 1988, we have been gradually forming an encyclopedia of Mexican cultures.

We have formed various series that allow us to reflect on a single theme from many different points of view, allowing us to better understand who we are and how this has influenced our imagination. Also, we have examined the aesthetic and spiritual mark that different cultures have left us, the delightful character of our cities and the intercultural exchanges that have enriched our country. This exploration of the different faces of our culture has extended into our parallel publications in different collections or series of photography, artistic children's books, sciences and humanities.

CIDCLI

CIDCLI is a publisher of children's books defined by two features: more than 40 years of experience in publishing and the spirit of renewal that characterizes younger generations.

WE ARE STILL GUIDED by the same philosophy: form and content are presented as a single unit that integrates the written word and visual components. Our writers, illustrators, designers, and editors work together to create the highest quality children's and young adult books.

WE PUBLISH both fiction and non-fiction collections. We have produced a quality backlist that has received much national and international recognition. Our books proudly form part of the cultural heritage of many public libraries.

WE ARE ALWAYS ENRICHING our literature series: in addition to publishing those recognized writers who have formed the backbone of our publishing house for many years, we also offer titles that hail from other languages and countries. We encourage the expansion of language, either in the original or in quality translations.

Bastian Bom and the White Crocodile

Bastian Bom y el cocodrilo blanco

Author: Mónica Rodríguez

Illustrator: Isidro R. Esquivel

Bastian Bom tells the story of a boy from Brazil's favelas who was born with vitiligo. Quiet and shy, Bastian used to feel left out until he met América, an albino girl who encourages him to feel comfortable in his own skin through the music that she plays on her saxophone. This is a tale about the search for oneself that fosters empathy and respect towards the differences of the others and encourages children to cultivate their self-esteem with the help of significant ties such as family and friendships.

Family Album

Álbum familiar

Author: Sara Bertrand

Illustrator: Amanda Mijangos

Set in the context of the Chilean dictatorship, this novel narrates the memories of the childhood and adolescence of Elena, who makes a recount of her life after her mother loses her memory and forgets about her. With this story, Sara Bertrand pays homage to the eyes of personal memory by comparing an album with torn photographs to the way in which we capture our experiences in the memories' images and the way in which identity is built through remembrances.

EDICIONES TECOLOTE

Ediciones Tecolote was created to reveal Mexico's artistic and cultural heritage, and to introduce certain aspects of knowledge to a non-specialized audience, particularly children and young people. This publishing house seeks to renovate books, transforming them into an interactive way of learning by means of a novel concept that brings text and image together through an original design. This way, history, art and different aspects of human creation become objects of interest for the greater public. Tecolote has a catalogue of 150 titles broaching history, folk art, and Mexican art. However, in the past few years it has been enriched with other subjects that are of interest in our country and beyond.

LIBROS PARA IMAGINAR

Imagining is all about playing with words and images. We embrace diversity and make books for children that feature contents and images from a variety of places. Embark on a journey with us across an ocean of possibilities: characters, stories, tales and narratives are created by inventing and dreaming. At Libros para Imaginar you will find our character Xook, whose name means “to read” in Mayan. He represents a cacomixtle, a mammal native from Mexico. Let Xook guide you down the multiple trails of imagination.

Little Teapots

Las teteras niñas

Author: Becky Rubinstein

Illustrators: Irma Bastida and Rocío Solís

This book of poems lets you find pleasure in words and delight in images. It is the result of a visual experience created by observing teapots galore, all made of different materials.

Little Teapots was born to cheer children and grown-ups up, and was amazingly written by Becky, who creates images through words, and Irma and Rocío, who create images through color.

Claudina and the wild

Claudina y lo salvaje

Author: Ricardo Chávez Castañeda

Illustrator: Juanpablo Junto

In her favorite park, in the calm of any given afternoon, Claudina witnesses the relentless ferocity with which a gang of cats chase a small mouse. Since then, she has been assailed by enormous doubts and fears: who will be the next food in this newly discovered wild world? What destiny awaits her, will she persecute or be persecuted? Can fear become a predator?

Unas personas

Author: Jairo Buitrago

Illustrator: Manuel Monroy

This sweet book is filled with images that will kickstart the reader's imagination. The story of a child with hand-down clothes weaves itself with that of an old lady that takes her duck to the movies and a kid that watches the city from a plane window. These thirteen close ups to the everyday life of a few people will undoubtedly tell a bigger story.

The Time Traveler Saga

La saga del Viajero del Tiempo

Author: Alberto Chimal

Illustrator: Sólín Sekkur

For several months, Alberto Chimal wrote through Twitter texts in which he imagined the possible journey that the Time Traveler, main character of H. G. Wells' The Time Machine, might have undertaken at the end of the novel. As if literature were part of another temporal dimension, these texts, which represent a tribute to SF, invite us to navigate the time machine that represents the book itself.

Alberto Chimal

- ◆ Author of short stories, novels and experimental books.

- ◆ One of his main interests is fantastic imagination: a Latin American style, different from the fantastic "genre" as understood in English-speaking countries, and which he has used in works that have received various awards.

Sólín Sekkur

- ◆ Illustrator of children and YA books.
- ◆ His work was selected at the 55th Bologna Illustrators Exhibition, and was chosen to create the 2022 BCBF's visual image.

Little gestures. Objects loved, abandoned, lost, forgotten

Pequeños gestos.

Objetos amados queridos abandonados extraviados olvidados

Author: Chiara Carrer

A kind of diary that collects reflections, notes of incomplete ideas, attempts at observation, texts confined to memory; repertoires and lists of piled up objects, scattered and worthless things, a collage of things found at the bottom of the pocket, full drawers, stacked boxes, unparalleled loose pieces and singularity in series.

It is structured like repertoires, lists, catalogues, inventories, prototypes, encyclopedias; like an imaginary library of collections, series and encounters.

Chiara Carrer

- ♦ Devotes her art to the world of children's books, and not only does she possess great creativity, but also an ability to communicate and connect sensibly with the reader. She lives in Rome. SM

SM is one of the first publishing houses in the Spanish-speaking world that developed literary books for children and young adults. El Barco de Vapor (children's fiction) and Gran Angular (juvenile fiction) are its bestknown imprints. But SM de Ediciones is also an enthusiastic publisher of non-fiction books, many of which have been purchased by the Secretariat of Public Education for the School Library Program. In addition, our picture books are among the favorites of the readers, since they can always find a good book regardless of their age or subject of interest. SM de Ediciones is the Mexican branch of the Spain-based international Publishing company SM de Ediciones, yet managed independently.

Prisms

Prismáticas

Author: Carmen Leñero

Illustrator: Salvador Jaramillo

Everything fits in this book of jumping words: fantasy, reality; changing landscapes, animated things and amazing images. Happy childhood stories and, at times, nostalgic. Here the world can be as you want; just look at it from different angles and immerse yourself in its colors. An approach to poetry from a playful and sensitive look.

Carmen Leñero

- ◆ Mexican writer who intertwines poetic creation with music, and critical thinking with literary fiction.

Salvador Jaramillo y

- ◆ Mexican artist who is an editorial designer with a diploma in illustration.
- ◆ He collaborated with Grupo Horma and has participated in various collective exhibitions.

Juan is a red-haired monster, with camel-like humps and the similar left hand to the leg of a turkey, who lives locked in his father house in Real de Minas de Taxco. Under that scary appearance, between legends of nagueles, mythological stories and prehispanic bestiaries, this child will discover his exceptional talent for poetry and drama, which later will stand out as one of the immortal writers of the century Spanish gold.

Emilio Lome

- ◆ Love bikes as much as words.
- ◆ He goes through the streets and sidewalks unraveling

abracadabras, imagining tricks that will turn fantasy into prose or poetry and turn it into reading, pleasant imaginary adventure.

Amada Mijangos

- ◆ Studied architecture at the Faculty of Architecture of the UNAM because when she was a child she thought that when she grew up she would build houses.
- ◆ However, she realized that she liked drawing them more and so she studied illustration at the Academy of San Carlos and in Buenos Aires, Argentina in Daniel Roldán's workshop.

The Queen of Sara

La reina de Sara

Author: Carlos González Muñiz

It's spring and the inhabitants of the continent Circa are preparing to the terrible kain, a movement of colossal land that rearranges the regions of the world. Cartographers face the worst earthquakes in history and governments have distanced themselves from the needs from the people. Hopes lie in old legend of the lost kingdom of Sara, who guards the secret to predict the kaines and decodes the greatest mystery of nature: the lust for power of the humans.

Carlos González Muñiz

- ◆ When he is not writing, he likes to read outdated books and graphic novels.
- ◆ He has learned to tell stories thanks to anime, video games and movies.
- ◆ He studies and teaches literature, edits books and writes scripts.
- ◆ He has been dedicating to writing for more than twenty years and it has been the best decision he has taken in his life.

Paper Constellations

Constelaciones de papel

Author: Lourdes Laguarda

Berenice, a shy librarian, is looking for a co-author for her novel and with the help of Julián, her inseparable friend, she contacts Alejandro, a sculptor apprentice who accepts the challenge of only communicating by notes without ever seeing each other. As they co-write their fantastic story about a love beyond time, they do not realize that they themselves will become the protagonists of a fabulous story.

Lourdes Laguarda

- ◆ She discovered literature thanks to her mother reading to her before bed and she fell in love with stories.
- ◆ She became a devourer of books and a machine for writing stories and novels, for which she has received several awards.
- ◆ He studied Medicine at UNAM and specializes in Orthopedics at INR, where he repairs broken bones.

INTRADUCIBLES

Intraducibles is a commitment to human rights, to freedom of expression through 3 different media: book, street art and a website. We're talking about untranslatable words in several indigenous languages. This means that you can't translate them with a unique word, as we're talking about their philosophies, the essence of the living heritage in the transmission of cultures, knowledge and symbolism. The book gathers through a national call, 68 indigenous words sent by native speakers and illustrated by 68 different illustrators from around the world. But we knew that wouldn't be enough to reach every kid considering that not all of them have access to books. So, we thought that street art is a space that gather people from any cultural and economic situation. We look for different artist that make their own interpretation of each word so we started with an exhibition in a public park in Mexico City where people can see the artist working.

Each wall has a QR that connects with the webpage where you can download the book for free and also make community. Kids can send their own drawings and schools can ask for the wall exhibition in their campus. The walls will visit 8 cities in Mexico an USA and still working on more. Each city will add a wall with one more word painted by a local artist. Intraducibles is part of an effort to create materials for education in order to reinforce understanding, tolerance and interculturality.

INTRADUCIBLES

Which word would you choose to name the kind of pain that runs from your stomach to your heart when you are broken-hearted? There is no single word in Spanish to express this feeling. Hñähñu speakers use ndumui when they feel that empty feeling in their torso. Ndumui, like 67 more words, shows this linguistic coexistence: language as a world view. Intraducibles is the perfect example of this.
